DENTURES IN ABU DHABI

A denture is a removable dental appliance that replaces lost teeth and soft tissues. Complete and partial dentures are the two types of dentures available. When all of the teeth are lost, complete dentures are utilised, whereas partial dentures are used when some natural teeth remain. Complete dentures are available in two styles: “conventional” and “instant.” A typical denture is ready for implantation in the mouth around eight to twelve weeks after the teeth have been removed and the gum tissue has begun to heal. Immediate dentures, unlike traditional dentures, are created ahead of time and can be placed as soon as the teeth are removed. As a consequence, the user does not need to be toothless during the healing process. A removable partial denture or bridge is made up of replacement teeth affixed to a pink or gum-colored plastic foundation.
