Myth 1: All Organic Sanitary Pads Are the Same

Fact: Not all organic sanitary pads are created equal. The choice between bamboo and corn is significant. Bamboo offers a soft and breathable texture, while corn fibers add natural absorbency. Understanding the unique features of each material helps in selecting the right pads that align with personal preferences and comfort needs.

Myth 2: Organic Means Less Absorbency

Fact: Contrary to the misconception that organic equals less absorbent, organic bamboo and corn sanitary pads can be as absorbent as traditional counterparts. The key lies in the innovative production processes that maximize the absorbent qualities of these natural fibers.
