Understanding Cervical Cancer

Cervical cancer primarily affects the cells in the cervix, the lower part of the uterus that connects to the vagina. Often caused by the human papillomavirus (HPV), cervical cancer may not show symptoms in its early stages, which makes regular screenings essential. Symptoms, when they appear, may include abnormal vaginal bleeding, pelvic pain, and discomfort during intercourse. Our specialists at Guru Jambheshwar Multispeciality Hospital emphasize early detection through routine Pap smears and HPV testing, which are vital for effective treatment and better outcomes.

Treatment Options at Guru Jambheshwar Multispeciality Hospital

Our hospital in Hisar is equipped with state-of-the-art facilities and a skilled team of oncologists, gynecologists, and support staff to provide a range of treatment options, including:

1. Surgery: In cases where cancer is detected early, surgical procedures like a hysterectomy or a trachelectomy (removal of the cervix while preserving the uterus) may be performed. Minimally invasive techniques such as laparoscopy are used whenever possible to reduce recovery time and discomfort.

2. Radiation Therapy: This treatment uses high-energy rays to target and destroy cancer cells. Our hospital employs advanced radiation techniques, ensuring precision to minimize side effects on surrounding healthy tissues.
3. Chemotherapy: For more advanced cases, chemotherapy may be used in combination with radiation therapy. Our oncology team personalizes chemotherapy plans based on the patient's needs, aiming to achieve the best possible outcomes.
4. Targeted Therapy: This modern approach involves drugs that specifically target cancer cells, making treatment more effective and reducing damage to healthy cells. Targeted therapy can be used in combination with other treatments for improved results.
5. Supportive and Palliative Care: Beyond medical treatments, we prioritize the comfort and emotional well-being of our patients. Our hospital offers comprehensive support services, including counseling, nutritional guidance, and pain management, ensuring that patients and their families receive holistic care throughout the treatment journey.
