“DEEKS are the ONLY decoys to use when you hunt Ogden and Farmington Bay along the Great Salt Lake. They are so easy to carry! I would not trade one DEEK for a whole dozen of the bulky plastic decoys.” Tim M Duck hunter

I hunt Malheur Refuge. DEEKS are PERFECT Springback Decoys for hunting public shooting grounds. Compact, light weight, easy to carry and set-up, there isn't a better decoy available for my type of hunting!” Frank A Duck hunter

I just love my DEEKS, they are so convenient for hunting the marshes and back-waters along the Mississippi. There is no way I could carry 4 dozen plastic decoys 2 miles to my favorite spot like I can my DEEKS. "Judd HDuck hunter

As the 2006 duck season draws to a close I wanted to drop you a quick note to say how pleased I am with my Deeks Duck Decoy Companies I purchased my Deeks at the beginning of this season and have shot many ducks over them. Don G Duck hunter

Take any lazy autumn morning after the duck season opens, when the sun is shafting down through an early morning haze and the leaves are turning the countryside into a painter's paradise. Imagine a quiet slough, surrounded by a few gentle hills ... quiet, that is, except for the odd labored breathing from two hunters wading through the thick gumbo at the edge of the slough, dragging a huge gunnysack of heavy wooden duck decoys between them while perspiration drips down their backs. Imagine the men to be John L. Feusner Sr. and his duck hunting partner, and you have the story of the birth of a multi-million dollar idea ... the collapsible rubber duck decoy ... and the beginning of a rubber products manufacturing business started 67 years ago.

Our History

Mr. John L. Feusner Sr. established Intermountain Rubber Company in Salt Lake City Utah to manufacture Deeks , the worlds first mass produced duck decoy, bringing a high quality, reasonably priced, easy to carry and set-up duck decoy to the average duck hunter. The business flourished during the pre-war years with sales of Deeks Duck Decoys rubber duck decoys exceeding 45,000 dozen duck decoys annually by 1940. With the start of World War II and the American involvement in that conflict, production was stopped as all Natural Rubber supplies were allocated to the war effort. Mr. Feusner enlisted in the United States Navy for a 4 year period and proudly served his country during the war years. With the coming of peace, he returned to Salt Lake City and began to pick up the pieces of his fledging rubber manufacturing business. Business again flourished. The post war years saw the product line expand to include the DuraDuck rubber duck decoy, goose decoys, gun pads and bellows for bird calls. By the middle of the 1950's rubber glove production was added to the factory in Salt Lake City. As the business expanded, so did Salt Lake City. Mr. Feusner found it necessary to relocate the company.
